Cross-border territories
on the front line?

PROGRAM

Context

If cross-border territories are described as "laboratories of European integration", the global crisis has put them to the test in 2020. However, there are encouraging signs that are helping to reinforce their leading role.

2020, a decisive year

The year of COVID-19 has seen a brutal acceleration in the economic, health and climatic transitions for which the subnational levels were preparing, and a return in our own times of border issues, 35 years after the signing of the Schengen agreements.

It is also the year of the 30th anniversary of the Interreg programmes, the 10th anniversary of the European platform of EGTCs*, and the year of the German EU Presidency, during which a European Territorial Agenda 2030 and a new Leipzig Charter will be approved.

* European Grouping of Territorial Cooperation

Objectives of the 1st borders forum

- 1. Demonstrate the central role played by cross-border areas in bringing together the peoples of Europe, show the way to sustainable and inclusive growth, and support European integration.
- 2. Convince European and national authorities to put cross-border territories at the heart of their public action, and signing a "European Alliance for cross-border citizens".
- 3. Bear witness to an ambitious France on the European stage, through both its national and its local and territorial action.

Cross-border areas involve 30% of the European population. Two million European workers are cross-border workers.

The COVID-19 crisis has badly hit cross-border areas and their inhabitants, revealing the necessity and urgency of European coordination.

Main organiser

The Mission Opérationnelle Transfrontalière (MOT) is the result of a long-standing partnership at the French borders between cross-border territories and the national and European levels. It actively participates, alongside its members, partners and European networks, in cross-border policies at these three levels.

Partners in 2020

The European Commission has launched a 10-point action plan in favour of border territories and proposes for 2021/2027 a territorial cooperation policy more attentive to these territories and to the resolution of obstacles to cross-border integration.

The European Committee of the Regions is one of the main promoters of territorial cooperation and of the 80 European Groupings for Territorial Cooperation (EGTCs), which carry out the day-to-day work of cross-border territories and networks in Europe.

Cross-border territories in Europe & 10th Meeting of the EGTC* Platform 2020

A year and a half after the European elections, and against the backdrop of the COVID-19 crisis, the joint MOT / EGTC Platform day will provide an opportunity to:

→ highlight the EGTCs from different angles (governance of cross-border territories, public services, etc.) and to debate their role after 2020, as well as the draft European ECBM regulation (resolution of obstacles),

→ discuss the need for a Europe of territories, at a time of Brexit and the rise of nationalism, and to involve a large number of European countries in these debates,

→ highlight the Franco-German Treaty of Aachen as a model (role of the Eurodistricts, of the cross-border cooperation committee, etc.) and to exchange ideas about the possibility of similar approaches elsewhere in Europe, in order to strengthen bilateral cross-border cooperation and European integration.

* European Grouping of Territorial Cooperation

Opening of the 1st Border Forum

- ▶ Jean-Yves Le Drian, Minister of Foreign Affairs, France
- ▶ Elisa Ferreira, European Commissioner in charge of Cohesion
- ▶ Apostolos Tzitzikostas, President of the European Committee of the Regions

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #1

Overcoming borders, a major challenge for the future of Europe

With the effective implementation of Brexit in 2021, the external borders of the European Union will be changed. The internal borders, for their part, suddenly came back into the news with the COVID-19 pandemic. At a time when a new debate on the future of Europe is opening up, how can we bring in the question of both internal and external borders, and above all the need to overcome them? How can we envisage the «post 2020» and provide global and concerted responses to meet the challenges of tomorrow's Europe and strengthen territorial and cross-border cohesion?

- ▶ Elisa Ferreira, European Commissioner in charge of Cohesion
- ▶ Apostolos Tzitzikostas, President of the European Committee of the Regions
- ▶ Christian Dupessey, President of the MOT, Vice President of Annemasse Agglo, France
- ▶ Karl-Heinz Lambertz, President of the Parliament of the German-speaking Community, Association of European Border Regions
- ▶ Judit Varga, Minister of Justice, Hungary

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #2

What European tools to implement an effective cross-border policy?

ECBM – European cross-border mechanism; cross-border governance tools; Operational Programmes 21-27 and attention paid to cross-border territories; new financial tools – InvestEU... Cross-border territories, their specificities and their integration and cohesion needs are more than ever integrated in the tools proposed by the main European actors (Commission, EIB, etc.). What do these different tools cover? What does such an awareness of cross-border issues reveal? How can local actors take ownership of these new tools?

- ▶ Anne Sander, Member of the European Parliament
- ▶ Claude Turmes, Minister for Energy and Spatial Planning, Luxembourg
- ▶ Rudy Demotte, President of the Lille-Kortrijk-Tournai Eurometropolis, President of the Parliament of the Federation Wallonia-Brussels
- ▶ Marc Lemaître, Director General, DG REGIO, European Commission
- ▶ Michael Frehse, Head of Directorate-General for Community, Federal Ministry for the Interior, Building and Community, Germany
- ▶ Laurent Zylberberg, Senior Executive Vice President Public and International Affairs of Caisse des Dépôts / Banque des Territoires

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #3

10 years of the EGTC Platform and 30 years of INTERREG – outcome and visions for the future

After 30 years of Interreg cooperation, particularly cross-border cooperation, the crisis experienced in 2020 has shown that it is necessary to continue and redouble efforts to support border territories. Victims of the crisis, they have also been a response to it, especially those structured in EGTCs – European Groupings of Territorial Cooperation.

What role did they play during this period? How can they contribute to inventing the Europe of tomorrow? What do they expect from the European authorities, and from the Member States, to enable them to better act locally and on a daily basis, in the service of their citizens?

► Isabelle Boudineau, President of the COTER commission (European Committee of the Regions), Coordinator of the EGTC Platform

► François Calvet, Senator for Pyrénées-Orientales, President of the Cerdanya Hospital EGTC support committee

► Béla Keszegh, Mayor of Komárno (SK), Member of Pons Danubii EGTC

► Sandra Sodini, Director of International Relations, Friuli Venezia Giulia Region, member of the Senza Confini EGTC (IT/AT)

► Jorg Saalbach, Director of EGTC Interregional Alliance for the Rhine-Alpine Corridor

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #4

The Treaty of Aachen, a driving force in Europe?

In 2019, France and Germany signed the Treaty of Aachen (TALC), which defines priorities and a method for cooperation on their common border. Its implementation in 2020 coincided with the COVID-19 crisis. It certainly revealed flaws – a lack of coordination or a European mandate – but also new cooperation and perspectives. Can this Treaty, and the method it proposes, show the way for other borders in Europe? How do territorial actors perceive its impact on the cross-border relations that they establish, and the cross-border actions that they deploy?

► Clément Beaune, Minister of State for European Affairs, France

► Vincenzo Amendola, Minister for European Affairs, Italy

► Konrad Szymanski, Minister for European Affairs, Poland

► Jean Rottner, President of the Grand Est Region, France

► Malu Dreyer, Minister-President of the State of Rhineland-Palatinate, Germany

CLOSING OF THE FIRST DAY

Key Points

Signature of the European Cross-border Citizen's Alliance

“ BORDERS AT THE HEART OF TOMORROW'S EUROPE ”

While the crisis initially provoked uncoordinated border measures, it also revealed interdependencies and gave rise to multiple forms of cooperation and cross-border solidarity, which now need to be organised and strengthened by European and national public policies that take full account of the specific nature of cross-border territories.

This is why, at a time when Europe is preparing to decide on its budget and trajectories for the period 2021-27, the MOT, the AEBR and the CESC are signing a "European Alliance for Cross-Border Citizens" and are calling on elected representatives, local authorities, organisations and (trans) border citizens to join them.

This Alliance advocates, on behalf of cross-border territories throughout Europe, that European and national decisions should in the future provide border authorities with more resources and powers to deepen cooperation across borders.

It is addressed to European and national authorities.

2020 EGTC Award Ceremony

The European Committee of the Regions will be awarding the European biennial award named "Building Europe across borders" – Award for European Groupings of Territorial Cooperation to recognise and give visibility to the best practice of EGTCs in Europe. The award is intended to contribute towards ensuring better knowledge of EGTCs by the national, regional and local authorities in the EU, by the EU institutions and the public.

Territories on the French borders

The COVID-19 crisis is a global health crisis, but it is also an economic crisis and even a crisis of democracy. It has shaken up the French municipal elections; it challenges our public policies and places the new local politicians in a new situation. This day will also offer a sounding board to these new French politicians and their European counterparts, as well as major private-sector decision-makers, and will provide an opportunity to debate on:

→ the major issues concerning cross-border territories, and specifically the challenges of mobility, energy transition and health,

→ the issues of inter-territoriality, by intersecting the perspectives of different levels and types of territories (metropolitan, peri-urban, sparsely populated, rural, mountain, coastal, etc.),

→ the role of cross-border territories as pioneers of the "territorial differentiation" highlighted in the 3D bill "decentralisation, differentiation, deconcentration",

→ cross-border territorial engineering, with the creation of ANCT – the National Agency for the Cohesion of territories at the beginning of 2020.

Opening 2nd day

▶ Caroline Cayeux, President of Villes de France and of the Agence Nationale de la Cohésion des Territoires (ANCT)

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #5

Health, digital evolution, climate... time for cross-border transitions?

The COVID-19 crisis challenges our public policies, it forces us to better anticipate the transitions we will be facing and to accelerate our responses to the many transitions and transformations, particularly in cross-border areas.

How is the demographic transition (ageing of the population) being prepared for in border areas with different profiles? Is the numerical and digital transformation being thought out and organised at the scale of cross-border territories? Can the latter become laboratories for ecological and climatic transition?

▶ Caroline Cayeux, President of Villes de France and of ANCT

▶ Pia Imbs, President of the Eurometropole of Strasbourg, France

▶ Roland Theis, State Secretary to the Minister of Justice of Saarland, Commissioner in charge of European Affairs

▶ Carlos Moreno, Scientific Director of the Chair ETI, Panthéon Sorbonne University – IAE Paris

▶ Private sector representative

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #6

Cross-border mobility and attractiveness, back to the borders?

In 2020, the free movement of people and possessions in France and Europe has been put to the test (population confinement; border closures), penalising millions of cross-border citizens, but also damaging the attractiveness of border areas. How have the main actors concerned faced the situation and are they now trying to bounce back? Are certain models (of development, mobility, cross-border governance) now being called into question? What kinds of coordination on either side of the border can be put in place to find common solutions?

▶ Pierre Cuny, President of Pôle métropolitain européen du Sillon Lorrain, Mayor of Thionville, France

▶ Frédérique Bonnard-Le Floc'h, Vice-Présidente of Finistère, Vice-Présidente of Brest Métropole

▶ Anna-Karina Kolb, Director of the Department of External and Federal Affairs, Canton of Geneva

▶ Thierry Mallet, Chairman and CEO of Transdev
▶ Private sector representative

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #7

Cross-border areas, differentiated areas?

The 3D law has three main objectives: better decentralisation of state services; strengthening decentralisation; and differentiating territories to better take into account their specificity. In many respects, and particularly because of the relationships they establish with their neighbours, "trans border" territories are the first to be concerned by this differentiation. What do border communities expect from this 3D law? How can the pioneering experience of the future European Community of Alsace, and its cross-border competence, be inspiring?

- ▶ Vice-President of Régions de France
- ▶ Representative of a French department
- ▶ Jean-René Etchegaray, President of the Communauté d'agglomération Pays Basque
- ▶ Daniel Gibbs, President of Saint Martin Regional Authority

15h30

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION #8

Metropolis, mountain, rural areas: What kind of cross-border cohesion?

Cross-border territories are multifaceted territories: sometimes metropolitan, sometimes rural, sometimes mountainous, sometimes coastal – they even have distinct profiles depending on the side of the border on which they are located. So how can we respond to the need for cross-border solidarity and cohesion in these territories? How does ANCT – set up in January 2020 – and in particular its national programmes meet this need? How do local engineering tools understand these cross-border needs, and do they try to meet them by strengthening their knowledge and skills?

- ▶ Jacqueline Gourault, Minister of Territorial Cohesion and Relations with Local Authorities, France
- ▶ Christian Estrosi, President of Nice Côte d'Azur Metropolis
- ▶ Annie Genevard, Vice-president of the National Assembly, Deputy of Doubs
- ▶ Representative of the Banque des Territoires, France
- ▶ Patrice Vergriete, Delegated President of the FNAU (French National federation of urban planning agencies), Mayor of Dunkerque, France

17h00

CONCLUSION OF THE FORUM

- ▶ Christian Dupessey, President of the Mission Opérationnelle Transfrontalière, 1st Vice President of Annemasse Agglo, France
